Presenter Bios:

Dr. McCabe graduated from University of Chicago Medical School in 1997 and trained in cardiothoracic surgery at the University of Minnesota. She has lived in Ann Arbor since 2003. Through her own health problems, she retired from her surgical career in 2015. In transitioning her career, she completed a Master's Degree in Health Management and Policy from the University of Michigan and subsequently retrained in addiction medicine and psychiatry. One of her primary goals is to research and integrate Eagala programming in substance use treatment in Michigan and nationally to advance commercial payer reimbursement for this important therapeutic tool.
